As most businesses start, there is a vision.
Ours is to create stunning fireplace solutions that are built to last.

At Naked Flame we have always had a keen interest in design. In particular where form meets function, where great design meets practical use.

Bending and blending the rules of design is what drives us. It drives us to create fires that are not only beautiful but functional too.

All too often the phrase "designer product" carries a hefty price tag, which is not really kiwi, and certainly not us.

That's why we have always strived to make the product quality as high as possible, yet keep the cost as low as possible.

Richard Lee - Founder and designer.
